

Snowman Sock Doll

Supplies:

men's size tube sock (all white)

children or ladies size colorful knit socks or gloves scraps of fabric for scarf and patches

googly eyes or black buttons

orange wool or felt for carrot nose

Sharpie black permanent fabric marker for snowman smile or black embroidery floss

Polyfil

rice

white string or yarn

All of the items above are usually things we already have, so each snowman is only pennies to make.

Instructions:

Fill one white tube sock with enough rice to form bottom portion of snowman body.

When you get the shape you like, tie off with string and clip. Next start filling with rice once again, just not quite as much this time. When desired shape is formed, tie off with string and clip. Add a small amount of rice and stuff the rest with Polyfil for the head, just making sure it's a bit smaller than his mid section. When head is firm and shaped, tie off with string and clip. Each and every snowman will turn out different, that's the fun part.

For the hat, cut off the heel and toe at an angle using the child sock. Cut to fringe about 1 inch sections all the way around about 6-8 inches long, depending on sock size. Put your hat on your snowman and tie off with matching string at the fringe. You can glue the hat on your snowman or stitch with matching thread. I like to fold my hat up once and embellish with a cute button or flower.

Hand-stitch or glue buttons for eyes, cut a little triangle for the carrot nose, stitch or glue on face. Use marker or stitching for the snowman's smile (or frown if he's grumpy).

Embellish with buttons down his front and lots of patches here and there. Don't forget to give him a cute little scarf, as long and wide as you'd like. Stripe-colorful fleece looks so cute with this! You can fringe at the ends...or get crazy and add pom-pom trim. Maybe you would even like to make a small family of snow people. Adding a mom and some kids.....now that would be cute! Just change the size of the socks. Happy Holidays ☺

Fill with rice and tie off with string after each section.
Stuff head with a bit of rice and Polyfil.

Use a ladies or girls sock to make your hat.
Add eyes, nose and mouth. Complete with scarf, buttons and patches.
